

Get $50 When Colleagues Join the Program*

Positive word-of-mouth about the Nova Southeastern University graduate degree programs in Brain-Based Teaching has led to more than 3000 teachers enrolling since 2001. Currently there are more than 500 teachers in the M.S. and Ed.S. degree programs focused on Brain-Based Teaching.

If you know teachers who are not enrolled in a NSU/BrainSMART degree program and who would benefit from these studies, please fill out this rebate form and return it to me. Interested colleagues may request a brochure and also view videos about the programs at www.brainsmart.org.

All referral rebates will be paid at the end of week three of the Winter 2011 term. New referred students must appear on the week three NSU registration report (i.e. they are registered for classes). Current and former BrainSMART students will receive a $50 check assuming their referred colleagues apply and are register in a BrainSMART degree program for the Winter 2011 term.

If you would like brochures and application forms to distribute to colleagues, please contact me at nsu@brainsmart.org. Feel free to duplicate this rebate form if you are referring more than one colleague. There is no limit to the amount of referral rewards that current and former BrainSMART students can receive for referring colleagues to the BrainSMART programs.
